

An aerial photograph of the British Isles, including Great Britain and Ireland, taken from a high altitude. The landmasses are dark green and brown, contrasting with the lighter, hazy atmosphere of the surrounding oceans. The perspective is from a high angle, looking down at the islands.

et penitus tōtō dīvisōs orbe Britannōs

even to Britain,
that place cut off
at the very world's end

— Vergil, Eclogues 1,66