

Chapter 34 Grammar

Infinitives

Latin has three tenses of infinitives, active and passive.

	Active		Passive		act.	pass.
Present	laud ā re	to praise	laud ā rī	to be praised	āre	ārī mon ē re	to warn	mon ē rī	to be warned	ēre	ērī dūc e re	to lead	*dūc ī	to be led	ere	ī aud ī re	to hear	aud ī rī	to be heard	īre	īrī

* Note that for 3rd conjugation passive infinitive, you take off the entire -ere before you add the -ī perfect stem + -isse		perfect passive participle neuter + esse Perfect	laud āv isse	to have praised	laudātum esse	to have been praised mon u isse	to have warned	monitum esse	to have been warned dūc x isse	to have led	ductum esse	to have been led aud ī isse	to have heard	audītum esse	to have been heard perfect passive participle stem + ūrum + esse		* accusative supine + īrī Future	laudātūrum esse	to be going to praise	laudātum īrī - to be going to be praised monitūrum esse	to be going to warn	monitum īrī - to be going to be warned ductūrum esse	to be going to lead	dūctum īrī - to be going to be said audītūrum esse	to be going to hear	auditum īrī - to be going to be heard * (almost never use, it is equivalent to winning the lottery - look in Cicero)
