

eam condiōnem esse imperandī, ut nōn
aliter ratiō cōnstet quam sī unī reddātur.

The condition of holding empire is that an account cannot be balanced unless it be rendered to one person.

__Publius Cornelius Tacitus, Annales, I, 6