

lupus est homō hominī, nōn homō, quom qualis sit nōn nōvit.

wolf is a man to a man, not a man, when what sort he is, not does he know

A man whom you do not know is not a man, but a wolf.

Titus Maccius Plautus, Asinaria, 495