

nihil tam mūnītun quod nōn expūgnārī pecūniā possit.

Nothing is so fortified that it is not able to be captured with money.

___ Cicero, In Verrem, I,ii,4